

Ammique bespoke

Any hardened bed spotters amongst our readership will no doubt be familiar with the name Ammique. The company produce some of the finest, high-tech sleeping options out there, and their bespoke creations are certainly something to behold. Pictured is an unashamedly masculine offering, sporting zinc panelling and a coordinating, portable screen-style headboard. Customising a standard Ammique model is a simple matter, thanks to an outer frame specifically designed to accommodate a host of stylish accoutrements – add to this flexibility a precision-engineered system crafted to provide your weary body with continuous support, and you have something approaching bed perfection...

Price: dependant on specification

Stockists: www.ammique.com

